

Date of Release: June 18, 2020

We are all relieved by the news that the number of active cases of the Coronavirus in B.C. continues to drop. Businesses are reopening, as are schools and some in-person services. As we proceed in the recovery journey, many things look different from what we are used to. In Villa Cathay, our resilient residents also embrace the “new” normal:

Staying connected with family members via video calls during the Provincial Visit Restriction.

Maintaining the meal time social through the protective hygienic screens to keep a safe social distance.

Taking a pause from group activities, our residents continue to engage in personalized leisure programs that meet the social distancing and infection control requirements. Residents can now watch their favourite videos while exercising. The mini gardens on the balconies are also ready for residents to enjoy the sunshine and grow garlic, bak choy, parsley, and flowers! Our residents also welcomed a new interactive baby doll to reminisce about their parenthood days. The little companion also helps promote the emotional well-being of our residents.

Villa Cathay will continue to implement all the required enhanced precautions and protocols to safeguard the health of our seniors during the COVID-19 pandemic.

Thank you for your ongoing support towards Villa Cathay Care Home. We look forward to welcoming you, volunteers, and visitors again once it is safe for care homes to reopen!

We will stay in touch with you, and please continue to stay well!
